DR. SAYLOR PLANS
CSCSB ORCHESTRA

The College is to have an orchestra. "The only question," according to Richard Saylor, Assoc. Prof. of Music, "is whether it is to be this quarter, this year or next, but an orchestra we shall have."

Dr. Saylor believes that campus orchestras are built around the more stable elements of the College community: i.e. faculty, staff, wives, friends of the College. He is turning to them for help, especially competent string players (violin, viola, cello, bass).

Members of the campus community who are musicians or who have musician friends are urged to contact Dr. Saylor, Ext. 298, C-102.

DR. LEE IS AUTHOR
OF BOOK ON ORWELL

Dr. Robert A. Lee, Associate Professor of English, had his first book published this summer. Entitled "Orwell's Fiction," it is an analysis of the seven major works by George Orwell.

Published by the University of Notre Dame Press, the book was completed while Dr. Lee was a Fellow of the Center for Advanced Study at the University of Illinois, 1967-68, and was released in August.

In his book, Dr. Lee seeks to establish Orwell primarily as a novelist rather than an essayist and social commentator.
